The first system of the musical score consists of three staves. The top staff is in treble clef with a key signature of two flats (Bb, Eb) and a 4/4 time signature. It contains a melodic line with eighth notes and some slurs. The middle staff is also in treble clef with the same key signature and time signature, but it is mostly empty with a few horizontal lines. The bottom staff is in guitar tablature, with strings G, A, and B labeled. It shows fret numbers in parentheses, such as (12), and includes dynamic markings like p and m. A circled '4' is present at the beginning of the first measure.

3

The second system of the musical score continues the three-staff format. The top staff has a measure number '3' at the beginning. The melodic line continues with eighth notes and slurs. The middle staff remains mostly empty. The bottom staff continues with guitar tablature, showing fret numbers (12) and dynamic markings like p.

6

The third system of the musical score continues the three-staff format. The top staff has a measure number '6' at the beginning. The melodic line continues with eighth notes and slurs. The middle staff remains mostly empty. The bottom staff continues with guitar tablature, showing fret numbers (12) and dynamic markings like p and a circled '10'.

Performance Notes for “Capone”

In this transcription, great care has been taken to the notation of pitch duration in the standard notation. This has led to several areas where it may be difficult to read the voice that is playing the pitch. The composer has indicated that , except for several instances, the soprano/top voice and the bass/bottom voice duration should be watched closely.

“Capone” should sound like the end of prohibition and the shuffling of newspaper across concrete streets, curbs, and sidewalks.

note 1

The third fret of the sixth string is fretted through an extension of the left hand. The fourth finger maintains the eleventh fret while the thumb extends along the fret board to the third fret.

note 2

The  $A^b$  on the fourth string is silenced on the 'and' of the fourth beat by the third lifting lightly off of the string. This effect is performed quickly so as to spend little time between the string sounding and the dampening of the string with the third finger.

note 3

The staccato on the 'and' of the third beat of this measure, and all measures through 98, is produced through the right hand middle finger dampening the string quickly after the string is plucked.
