Google Web Accelerator only prefetches links that should have no side effects. Its just not like that, amateurs are publishing more and more and they dont even know what a spec is.

Google Web Accelerator only prefetches links that should have no side effects. Thanks for pointing out the errors!

He felt strongly that we needed to have guest cartoonists come in to spice things up.

Thanks for pointing out the errors!

However, more and more I am hearing rumours, comments, and opinions that Google is becoming the new bad buy.

A catastrophe like GWA will exterminate a few more of them, so it is a good thing.

He agreed and suggested something related to cancer research.

Google takes fraud and spamming very seriously.

Wait and see what others do?

Does it hurt when you hit your head against the wall?

It ships with a brand new mutation: The header is gone!

GET is suppose to be used for requests that do not change state.

As noted, we had formed a committee to ensure that we were commemorating a variety of holidays and individuals.

More earnings from that one site.

POST-buttons all over the screen is just a GREAT idea.

I sent them around to the UI team and Sergey, knowing we had a problem.

I recently 'removed' adsense from one site while keeping it on another.

What happened to the idea of a continuing story?

There was no narrative building over time or any other connection among them, other than the presence of characters from the Dilbert cast.

As usual, I had underestimated his willingness and ability to implement whatever ideas popped into his mind.

Sort of an Internet version of Microsoft SmartTags.

Why assume they would cache it?

But if you catch a cold, whose fault is that?

How about offer a constructive solution to the problem rather than rail against the machine?

But all this SHOULD vs.

An hour later Scott sent us a draft storyline for a five day doodle.

So removing ads from sites you suspect are converting poorly could result in seeing an adjustment to a higher smart pricing percent in as little as a week.

For example, Internationalisation .

To show our gratitude he was given a gift of Google stock.

Would we issue a joint press release?

Removing AdSense - or swapping it for YPN instead - and wait a week or two and see if there seems to be an increase in CPM?

Brian Aubert of Silversun Pickups - Well.

Thus the concept is wrong on its face.

You won't be charged for any such calls.
What, I said to myself, does GWA stand for?
But if you catch a cold, whose fault is that?
Google pays the bill for all calls, both local and long-distance.
The page may have moved or may no longer be available.
However, while AdSense was attempting to get a publisher back from YPN, one support team member disclosed more details than perhaps he or she should have.
so a smart app developer would know this and realize that this alone would make their applications disfunctional and prone to failure.
Absolut Vodka had opened their bottle to interpretation by well-known artists and run ads featuring their creations.
I sent a note to his syndicate contact outlining some size restrictions for the artwork and letting them know that we were fine with Scott playing with the logo in any way he found amusing.
, follows GET requests, then any damage that that will do the website is the fault of the developer and not of Google.

GET is supposed to be used for requests that do not change state.
Method is verified as POST, and the proper methods get executed.
Thus the concept is wrong on its face.
What good is GWA to us if every website blocks it?
It got me thinking that it would be nice to make a few more contributions to the chapter on Google.
Some things are starting to make sense now.
We use technical methods to prevent future prank calls from the same user within a reasonable period of time.
If someone logs in, GWA now has access to those links unless everything is behind an HTTPS connection.
They would have the exact same nasty behavior.
Case Studies Professional Services Purchase strategic consulting services and customized support packages from Google Analytics Partners.
But she only mentions the WMW post, so I guess her blog post is based on only that.
But second, how could this happen again and worse than before?
This is based on the CMS.
But the thing is, I still I have stories I want to tell.
My point is not whether GWA is good or bad but more that your reaction is inappropriate.
After Rich, the MBA influx began in earnest, though an MBA alone was never enough to ensure a position at the company.
The concept is dead wrong on its back side.
I began imagining a long line of great cartoonists vying to do logo treatments for Otherwise I must switch to the other more traditional networks fairly urgently.

How could you miss that?

What happened to the idea of a continuing story?

He felt strongly that we needed to have guest cartoonists come in to spice things up.

No offense, but as long as this isn't confirmed on the official AdSense or AdWords blog, it'll be just a rumour for me.

I wouldn't wait around for the AdSense blog to confirm this.

And this often used example explains how this works more precisely.

And since very little is publicly disclosed to publishers about how smart pricing specifically works, there are many questions surrounding it.

But Sergey adamantly insisted that we should change the logo as he had done on Thanksgiving with his clip-art turkey and again when everyone went off to Burning Man.

Who will get my phone number?

I began imagining a long line of great cartoonists vying to do logo treatments for us.

You think this idea of malware is too extreme?

so a smart app developer would know this and realize that this alone would make their applications dysfunctional and prone to failure.

My point is not whether GWA is good or bad but more that your reaction is inappropriate.

Maybe this was the time to move on with a new phase of my life and bury the past.

No offense, but as long as this isn't confirmed on the official AdSense or AdWords blog, it'll be just a rumour for me.

I thought everyone knew not to put POST behavior in a GET.

He felt strongly that we needed to have guest cartoonists come in to spice things up.

A highly recommended service.

What will GWA show to end users and who will now get the revenue?

Now, what about all the poorly designed web apps?

While one should always be cautious to ascribe to malice that which could be explained by ignorance, this appears like double up on evil with a smirk of dark lord.

frankly the whole idea seems pretty darned antiquated to me.

As usual, I had underestimated his willingness and ability to implement whatever ideas popped into his mind.

I seriously doubt they have made any error or oversight with this software.

Cox Google has reintroduced their Google Web Accelerator with a vengeance.

No doubt GWA would break this by hitting the anchor links but it is on an intranet where you can push the envelope a little more.

google always says "dont be evil" and they turn around a be evil with adsense.

My website has hundreds of links on each page, mostly to static pages, but those pages do change on occasion, so caching may not be a legitimate option.

What did I take away from this whole experience?

YPN isn't available for me in Canada yet so that's not an option, but when it is I'll be trying it out.

After reading through all the comments, I definitely see where this is a problem and I am truly surprised that Google would do something like this.

its just another loophole to boost there earnings for the stock market.

I thought everyone knew not to put POST behavior in a GET.

What would they think about our ragtag ad hoc marketing efforts to date?

Smart pricing is evaluated each week.

The check for POST method on the server side fails, the script bails out.

Do you think they know a POST from a GET?

That we accidently got a bastard, mutant version of the GWA.

Google data determines that clicks from the digital camera reviews convert better, so clicks from this page are not discounted.

Now, what about all the poorly designed web apps?

While second accounts are hard to get, I bet there are publishers who will be working on getting a new company name for this purpose.

no more this kind of fucking comments!

Anyways, YPN is still not available - I will give them a try but I will surely never give up adsense completely - it just needs to be tweaked to work well.

Screenshots provided.

To my surprise, the number and diversity of distractions the world offers appears to be unlimited.

I highly recommend them.

Smart pricing in itself is good for the long-term because it attracts more AdWords publishers.

The mug seemed a minor issue and I gave it little thought.

What if someone enters my phone number instead of theirs as a prank call?

POST-buttons all over the screen is just a GREAT idea.

Your number is blocked so that the business can't see it.

After reading through all the comments, I definitely see where this is a problem and I am truly surprised that Google would do something like this.

After Rich, the MBA influx began in earnest, though an MBA alone was never enough to ensure a position at the company.

GWA is the one not following standards since it assumes GETs are always non-destructive.

Expect that there will be unexpected ramifications from even the most innocuous seeming initiatives.

Not very degradable it seems.

Ken had come by to give a tech talk, and people liked his work enough to want to have him create something simple for our site.

Frankly, expectations were starting to exceed my willingness to meet them.

Not just PMMs, but Associate PMMs had MBAs.

GWA does not adhere to this.

But a publisher could mistaken a low CPM for also being poorly converting and remove those ads.

Do you think they know a POST from a GET?

More importantly though, it just seems massively antisocial to request resources that you may not need.

I do know that getting the company to change its behavior will be non-trivial, though.

Strangely I was suggested by Google to add more ad blocks to increase earning although it clearly decreases my share of the profits through smart pricing - I don't like that.

You won't be charged for any such calls.
